Belgium

Belgium, a country in Western Europe, is known for medieval towns, Renaissance architecture and as headquarters of the European Union and NATO.

Exploring Belgian

The word "Belgium" originates from the name "Belgica", given by the Romans to the northern part of Gaul, which Julius Cesar conquered a few decades before the Christian Era. It is based on the name of the fierce tribes which they had to subdue in that area.

Many inhabitants of what was later to become Belgium played an important part in the Crusades, including Godfred of Bouillon, one of the leaders of the First Crusade and Baldwin of Flanders, the first King of Jerusalem.

In the Middle Ages, Belgium was divided in fiefdoms: the County of Flanders by the sea, the Duchy of Brabant, the Principality of Liège along the Meuse river etc. A merchant bourgeoisie developed, especially in the harbour towns of Bruges and Ghent and quickly conquered de facto independence from the feudal lords and from the Kings of France and the German Emperors, the nominal overlords.

During the Hundred Years War (1337-1453), several battles were fought in what is now Belgium, like the one at Sluis, where the French King lost his fleet. The area acquired a reputation for being the battlefield of Europe. The battles of Oudenaarde, Malplaquet, Ramillies, Jemappes, Waterloo, Ypres and Bastogne were later all to be fought on Belgian soil.

Exploring Belgian Culture

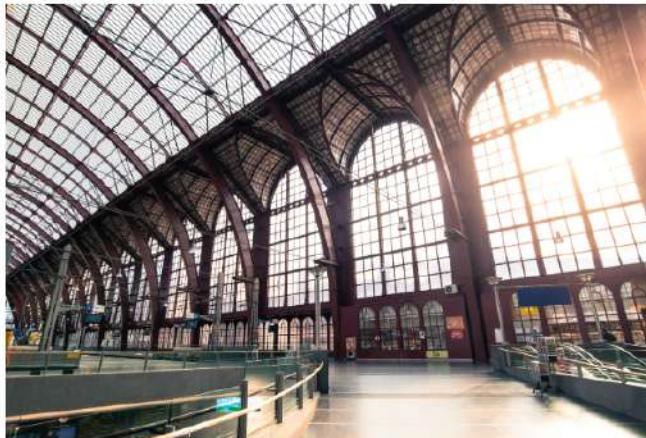

Belgium is one of the smallest European countries that's produced some of the finest artists and thinkers. For a small country, it has a lot of beautiful and historical cities, fine food, and rich culture.

Tolerance and diplomacy are keywords for Belgium. According to international polls, Belgium is one of the most satisfied countries in the world! Home to the European Union and NATO, Belgium has been influenced by the French, Dutch, Austrian, and Spanish, making it a unique combination of cutting edge and traditional cultures.

Best and Most Beautiful Places to visit in Belgium

Belgium is a small country with a big personality.

Brussels

Brussels is not only the capital of Belgium but also the de facto capital of Europe. It is the seat of many important European organisations. As a result, Brussels is an incredibly international and multicultural city. Politicians and diplomats from all over the world have made it their own and turned the town into a bustling metropole. But while Brussels is known as a city of bureaucrats, it is also a popular tourist destination. Brussels has a rich history with beautiful architecture from a variety of periods. From the famous central square (Grand Place) with its imposing Town Hall to elegant 19th-century mansions. And from quirky art nouveau buildings to the modern skyscrapers of the business district. Brussels is also a city of art, with many galleries taking advantage of the relatively low rental prices compared to nearby Paris.

Antwerp

Where Brussels is all business, Antwerp is all fun. The capital of the Flemish region is the second biggest city in Belgium. Antwerp also boasts the biggest port of the country and the critical trading position made the city rich in the 16th century. During that time, Antwerp also became a hub of art and culture. Antwerp is known as the city of diamonds, due to its crucial position in the diamond trade. The historically orthodox Jewish diamond district still processes 85% of the world's uncut diamonds. It lies close to arguably the most beautiful building in Antwerp: the central train station. This gorgeous gothic structure is lovingly nicknamed the railway cathedral. To learn more about the history of Antwerp visit the MAS museum. Art lovers will get their fix in the Rubens House, where the famous Belgian painter once lived. Antwerp is also an excellent destination for shopping queens, with lovely designer boutiques and, of course, diamonds.

SOCODEBLOGS

The Launch of blog site!

On August 25, 2023, I began creating blog posts on the newest tech news, tech advice, and the tools I use on a daily basis and how they affect my life so that I could share my experience with it with the readers.

Visitors can share their blog content with me so that I can keep this updated with the most recent blog posts. Anyone interested in contacting them or sharing their content can do so through the contact information provided in the blog article.suhaskuthnikar0p@gmail.com or <https://socode.netlify.app/#contact>

Together, let's create a lovely community or forum where people may find knowledge and assistance.

r/UNIXPORN

is a sub-reddit where fans of Linux and Unix discuss their *NIX desktops. We may share screenshots, get inspiration, publish tutorials, share config files, and more through the unixporn community.

This poster is a preview of my Linux customization that describes how I use Linux in my daily work as a front-end developer and full-time freelancer. I created it in the hopes that many new Linux users will be motivated to customize their desktop environments to make them more enjoyable to use.

This enables the user to create their own version of it using the fonts, color scheme, icons, and other elements.
